Scenarios to reflect on

Scenario 1: A globally active organisation bringing together artists for social change makes a public statement supporting the #BlackLivesMatter movement. After the post, some black members of the organisation try to address the lack of diversity in the leadership of the organisation, but are dismissed.

Scenarios to reflect on

Scenario 2: A national chapter of a global youth organisation requests at the general assembly that the organisation stops receiving funding from a large oil corporation that has caused a massive oil spill in their country. The board refuses, explaining that they need the money to be able to continue running their programs.

Scenarios to reflect on

Scenario 3: A new team member, who is part of a group with fewer opportunities, joins a youth organisation. The person does not speak English and the leadership of the organisation decides to pay for their English classes and give them preference to participate in an international youth exchange, despite them not having been part of the fundraising and preparation phase. Other team members are frustrated and feel disadvantaged.

Scenarios to reflect on

Scenario 4: A person in your team comes out as non-binary and asks to be now referred to with neutral pronouns. Some team members do not adhere to the request and a few people end up always being the ones to correct them.
